

P. O. BERTHS GIVING HOUSE MEMBERS LOTS OF WORRY

Puzzled Over Civil Service Rights of Soldiers Under Revised Order by Harding.

When President Harding three weeks ago issued a revised order for the appointment of postmasters of the first, second, and third classes members of the House of Representatives thought the end of their difficulties had arrived. Not so, and now Congressmen are casting around for the key to the puzzle.

At least two-thirds of the present members of the House were elected on a straight platform of a "clean sweep," and their constituents at home are calling on them to make good, especially those constituents who have been flirting with postoffice berths.

It is generally conceded that the order of the President, which was made at the instigation of Postmaster General Hays, was an improvement over the Wilson order—at least, from the Republican viewpoint. The big problem confronting the Congressmen today is the soldier. Under President Harding's order postmasters are to be selected from the three highest in a civil service examination when their term expires.

Now under existing practice the soldier is given preference rights for all civil service posts, and the question confronting Congress is where the soldiers will stand under the latest order.

Republican leaders estimate 85 per cent of the postmasters in the United States are Democrats, and under the "clean sweep" pledge they feel obligated to make a turnover.

The soldier is the hitch, and until some official interpretation is given the members of the House are in a quandary.

BUSINESS WOMAN KILLED, THEN ROBBED, IS BELIEF

LOS ANGELES, Calif., May 27.—The body of an elderly woman, found at Santa Monica, near here, Sunday, was identified yesterday as that of Mrs. Catherine Fiel, a wealthy retired business woman of Chicago.

The police expressed the belief she had been murdered, and an autopsy showed death apparently had been caused by blows upon the head. Mrs. Fiel was said to have carried a large sum of money sewed in her clothes. She disappeared last Friday from a hotel.

ALLIES PUT OFF PAYING INTEREST TO U. S. TILL JAN. 1

Mellon Denies Government Will Guarantee Big Foreign Bond Issues Here.

The United States does not expect payments of interest on the allied debts to begin earlier than the first of next year, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon stated today, although he made it plain that the funding policy with regard to the allied debt is not yet definitely settled.

The Secretary denied flatly published reports that the Government will guarantee British, French, Italian and Belgian bonds to be sold to American investors, the proceeds of which would go to the Government and which would be used to pay off Liberty bond issues.

Secretary Mellon said that there has been no contemplation of any such plan which would transfer the $10,000,000,000 allied debt from the Government to American investors.

RACE RIOT WIDOW GETS VERDICT AGAINST CITY

CHICAGO, May 27.—A verdict awarding to Mrs. Ada Dosier damages of $2,300 against the city of Chicago was returned by a jury of white men in the Supreme Court yesterday. This was the first of the thirty cases against the city originating in the race riots of July, 1919.

It was brought out at the trial that during the rioting a negro committee had waited on Mayor Thompson and had been assured of ample protection. The following day thousands of hand bills were circulated in the South Side informing negroes who had been staying in their homes, afraid to go to work, that the Mayor guaranteed ample police protection.

William Henry Dosier, husband of Mrs. Dosier, was killed by a mob at the entrance to the stock yards the following day.

NEW YORK, May 27.—Miss Loretta Marille, twenty-three, vaudeville actress, was struck on the head by a blunt instrument and robbed of four rings valued at $2,000 Tuesday "somewhere in 135th street," she reported to the police today.

She had just left a cabaret in that street, she said, for her hotel, when she was attacked.

PRESIDENT SENDS MAY 30 MESSAGE TO LEGION POST

Memorial Day Greetings to Express Hope That National Sacrifices Are Ended.

NEW YORK, May 27.—President Harding, in a Memorial Day message to the American Legion, made public last night, expressed hope that the future years would bring less need for further national sacrifices. The message follows:

Americans have never been much given to the establishment of holidays and festive days. Perhaps our national life has been so short and entirely within so matter-of-fact and practical a period of the world's history that we have been little moved by the sentiments that such occasions inspire. Yet I think no nation has ever established a national day of consecration that represented a more lofty and ennobling sentiment than does our national Memorial Day. To its observance we have brought the full measure of sincere reverence and gratitude that a great people is ever to entertain for those who have made the great sacrifice in its behalf.

Memorial Day marks our recognition of those who, from our national beginning, have deserved the most that the nation could give of gratitude and appreciation. It reminds us that in every generation, from Lexington to the Argonne, our valorous sons have well deserved the highest tribute that a nation fortified, defended, preserved, could give to them. Whenever the demand has come and wherever we may have called the sons of our proud land, it has always been answered. Though we have never been a militant or war-loving people, there has been no time when Americans did not rise to the full measure of the requirement which national honor and national safety imposed upon them. When national safety was the cause, the response was always instant and decisive. When civilization summoned, and our sons were called to other seas and skies and soils, we saw the same promptness, the same zeal, the same devotion.

On this Memorial Day of 1921 we stand, by trust, very close to peace achieved, to safety insured. May it be our common aim and purpose that, in the coming years, our nation's aim and policy shall be directed to make certain that there shall be least need for further sacrifices, greatest guarantees of the stability, the permanence and the inspiring character of those institutions of liberty to which our nation has been dedicated.

MUCH GIVEN AWAY APE FOUND TO BE FILM STAR

WOODBURY, N. J., May 27.—About 150 telephone calls, forty of which were a score or more of personal calls have been received by Surrogate Pedrick and Jail Warden Mager concerning the pet monkey that was given to the surrogate, who turned it over to Mager, who later gave it to James Magill, of Mt. Royal, who now has Magill's monkey to J. L. Buck, of Stockton Park, Camden county, a professional animal trainer. All the anxious inquiries offered to adopt the much-given-away Jocko.

Until today, neither Pedrick, Mager nor Magill knew what a valuable animal it was.

The monkey, it is said, has a great history. It is full of tricks, and Buck said yesterday he had been after it more than a year.

The monkey is a real "movie actor," and according to Buck, has been on the screen many times. The new owner values it at $500.

FEW U. S. CITIZENS AMONG DRY LAW OFFENDERS

CHICAGO, May 27.—Only one liquor law violation in every ten brought before Judge Kenesaw M. Landis involves an American, the judge declared when Roy Jillette, a saloonkeeper, admitted he had taken out only first papers, although he has been in the United States seventeen years.

"I am amazed at the nerve of some of you men," Judge Landis said, as he issued an injunction closing Jillette's saloon for one year. "Of the cases that come before me, 90 per cent are against foreigners."

Too many young women have quit their jobs in the neckwear department to wed, the manager says.
